Why a Community Based Health Clinic? (National Trend)

- Focus on improving student achievement – through student, staff, family, and community wellness
- School-based health centers operate as a partnership between the school and a community health organization
- Services provided may vary based on community needs and resources as determined through collaborations between the community, the school district and the health care providers
- Nearly 2,000 school-based health centers operate nationwide, according to the most recent National Assembly on School-Based Health Care census.
- Southern Door Schools are center of the Southern Door community
When we break down barriers to access, we can improve overall health for the entire community
